

Dear FCC,

I am disappointed that the FCC does not have the interests of the general public at heart. To allow Sinclair Broadcasting to air what amounts to a lengthy campaign ad just prior to an election should be a violation of election and broadcast rules for equal representation and fairness. It is tantamount to airing Michael Moore's film Fahrenheit 911 just prior to the election. Pay Per View to their credit decided not to do this.

There is no fairness here, and I for one object and will boycott Sinclair stations for this action.

The airing of this so-called documentary is a great disservice to the American voter and public.
